CONFESSIONS OF A SUPERHERO

A Documentary by Matt Ogens

DVD Released 12th April 2010

"A more beautiful documentary you're unlikely to find" - The Village Voice

Released on DVD in the U.K. on 12th April 2010, CONFESSIONS OF A SUPERHERO (2007) is a feature length documentary that chronicles the lives of three mortal men and one woman who make their living working as superhero characters on Hollywood Boulevard.

This deeply personal look into their daily routines reveals their hardships and triumphs as they pursue and achieve their own kind of fame. The Hulk sold his Super Nintendo for a bus ticket to LA; Wonder Woman was a mid-western homecoming queen; Batman struggles with his anger, while Superman's psyche is consumed by the Man of Steel. Although the Walk of Fame is right beneath their feet, their own paths to stardom prove to be long, hard climbs.

The film focuses in particular on Christopher Dennis, Jennifer Wenger, Joseph McQueen and Maxwell Allen, who dress as Superman, Wonder Woman, The Hulk and Batman, respectively. Upon its release in 2007, CONFESSIONS OF A SUPERHERO was well received by critics, receiving an official selection at the 2007 SXSW Film Festival, and an official selection at the AFI Fest 2007.
